

4273

Construction Engineering and Project Management.

Lab 3. Prerequisites: senior standing and consent of instructor. Principles and practice of construction engineering and project management. Project planning, development of cost estimates and project schedules, construction methods and fundamental terminology used in the engineering and construction industry.