

5233 Geotechnical Engineering Investigations. Prerequisite 3713, 4711, and basic geology course. Description of methods of subsurface exploration, sampling, and in situ testing. Discussion includes a review of engineering geophysical methods, equipment and methods for boring and sampling of soil and rock, measurement of ground water conditions, and in situ testing equipment and methods such as cone penetration test, pressure meter test and others.